THE WOES OF A DANDY.

Great Afflictions Overtake the Darling Young Man.

All who were invited to the party had come. Frederic Snicker was there, although it would not have been surprising had the state of his health detained him at home.

He had lately experienced a trouble compared with which the affair of Luseba Aplington was not worthy of mention.

"Tom, old chap, do you know I've been very uncomfortable all week."

"What's the matter now, Snicker? Another love affair?"

"Now, Mr. Norwell, really, I hardly expected this of you. 'Pon my word, this is abrupt. Sir, I consider that abrupt."

Having given utterance to this momentous decision he threw his head back a little and bent his cane viciously with both hands. His action was a gesture, but very, very mild compared with those of the bellicose Hibernian who has an imaginary chip on his shoulder which everybody declines to see.

"Beg pardon, Snicker," said Tom laughing. "Everybody knows, of course, that you are a tremendous fellow with the girls, but I suppose I shouldn't have mentioned it publicly. Still, I've always thought," continued Tom, in a half confidential tone, "that your little affairs of the heart would get you into trouble sometime."

"Oh, it's all right, Mr. Norwell. Of course you meant no harm," replied Snicker, well pleased by the allusion to his ravages among female hearts.

"May I inquire the nature of the trouble you allude to, Mr. Snicker?"

"Oh, certainly, with pleasure. You see I have a regular rotation of perfumes for each day in the week—Jockey Club for Monday, Patchouly for Tuesday, Ylang Ylang on Wednesday, and so on. In that way the odors get delightfully confused, you know, and overlap each other like the colors of the rainbow. It gives a kind of ecstasie what-the-dence-is-it sort of an odoh, you know, that charmingly confuses and excites curiosity."

"Then it's really quite a study to discover if you can't catch a little of Monday's Jockey Club hanging around till Wednesday, overlapping Patchouly clear onto Ylang Ylang. Did you ever try that, Mr. Norwell?"

"I don't think I could do it."

"No? Well, it does require practice. But as I was going to say I got Wednesday's perfume by mistake on Tuesday. That put the whole week out of joint, and I'm afraid next week will hardly straighten it out."

"That's too bad. You ought to put the day of the week on each bottle on a plain label."

"I do, but you see I made a doocid bad break, and forgot the day of the week."—"An Iron Crown."

A Clergyman's Joke.
It was in an Episcopal theological seminary not a thousand miles from New York, and the professor had been explaining how the early church assigned different ecclesiastical colors to the different orders in the ministry, but failed to say anything about the color for deacons.

This was more than a newly-ordained deacon in the class could stand, and he broke in thus: "Professor, you have not told us what is the proper color for a deacon."

Quick as a flash the professor answered, looking at the young man: "Oh I believe the proper color for a deacon is green."

A Shrewd Boy.
A gentleman who was visiting one of the public schools in a Texas town asked a bright-looking boy:

"What profit is there in the study of ancient history?"

"About fifty cents, I reckon," was the reply.

"Well, the teacher makes us buy the books of him, and we have to pay $1. I think he gets them for fifty cents apiece; so he has a clear profit of fifty cents, according to my calculation."

The boy went home at recess; hence he could not comply with the request of the teacher to stay in after school. —[Fort Worth Gazette.]

Awastruck by a Dress Suit.
Fashion allows no repose to any person except to those who are dead. Some of us laugh at it, some of us sneer at it, and some of us protest against it. But in our secret souls we are impressed by it.

A swallow-tail coat may offend my principles, but it pleases my eye mightily, and I am ready to confess that there is no more beautiful sight in the world, outside of a photograph gallery, than a young fellow, with slim legs, wearing a swallow-tail coat and exposing a tremendous expanse of shirt bosom. —[Atlanta Constitution.]

How To Chew Gum.
A drug store in town issues the following instructions how to chew gum: First—Find a Yankee; he will show you how.

Second—If no Yankee is at hand, moisten or soften the gum in the mouth until it becomes soft enough to give to the teeth without crumbling.

Never attempt to chew it when first placed in the mouth. —[Concord (N. H.) Monitor.]

"Is it true, Bromby, that an uncle died during the summer and left you a fortune?"

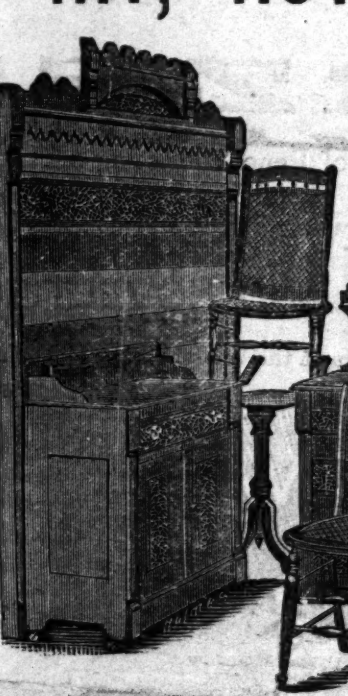

"Yes, Mr. Darringer; I always liked the old gentleman; but I've another uncle whom I don't like. I'd give the fortune to get rid of him."

Are you troubled by sneezing, itching, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, ringing or roaring in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness or dizziness of the head, dryness or heat of the nose? Have you lost all sense of smell? Is your breath foul? If so, you have the Catarrh. Some have all the symptoms, others only a part.

California Cat-R-Cure
Restores the sense of taste and smell, removes bad taste and unpleasant breath, restores the sense of smell. Easy and pleasant to use. Follow directions and a cure is warranted by all druggists.

RECOMMENDED.
CAPTAIN CHARLES L. DIMAN of New York City, formerly special agent of the Phoenix and Home Insurance Company at San Francisco, writes: "I had been troubled with chronic Catarrh for twenty years. A friend in Woodland, Cal., recommended your CAT-R-CURE. I procured a jar, having but little faith in its curative properties; but I must say, after using it three jars, I am cured of the disgusting disease." Inclosed find $5, for which send me California CAT-R-CURE for some friends who are suffering.

UNDER the head of "Editorial Cheshnuts," the Chico Enterprise says that it can observe numerous signs in culling over the exchanges received at this office, that the editorial fraternity are "getting down to business." It seems that in every town there is something "which it behooves our citizens" to do, and a demand is everywhere made that they shall "put their shoulders to the wheel." They are likewise invited to be-str themselves, to "awake to the importance" of various situations and to be "up and doing." It is generally promised that should the average citizen "hump" himself as requested, his town will, "in the near future," take "rapid strides" towards the greatness sought, and we sincerely hope that he will so "hump."

SOME idea of the great mineral wealth of the country can be obtained from the United States Geological survey, which gives mining statistics showing an immense output. The total value of all minerals mined in 1887 was $538,000,000. This is $70,000,000 more than the output for 1886, and over $100,000,000 greater than for 1885. The year's yield is not only the greatest ever produced in this country, but it is at least $100,000,000 greater than the output of any other country, and, leaving out England, is greater than that of all Europe.

REPRESENTATIVE REED of Maine, is of the opinion that there will not be an extra session of the Fifty-first Congress. He bases his opinion upon the belief that the Republicans will have a majority of five in the next House, and that immediate organization will not be necessary to obtain control of the machinery of legislation.

THE saying which will result in substituting electricity for horse-flesh on the street railways of this country is hinted at by the fact that the operation of one street railway in England by electricity will result in saving $60,000 per annum over and above the present cost of operating it by horses.

THE number of primary schools reported in Hungary is 16,417; attendance upon the same, 1,836,459 pupils, and the cost of maintenance, $5,110,523. The attendance was equivalent to 79 per cent. of the children subject to the compulsory law.

A MAN last week sat up in his coffin and took charge of his own funeral, ordering the same to be indefinitely postponed. All surprise vanishes when it is known that he was an Ohio man.

The American bison is not likely to become extinct after all. It has been found profitable to breed them for grading domestic cattle, and it is said they thrive and multiply in captivity.

A Proposition to Annex Canada.

A FATAL CANNON EXPLOSION.

Some Army Promotions.—Mitchell of Oregon Mentioned for a Cabinet Position.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Canadian Annexation Advocated
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Butterworth of Ohio has introduced for reference the following joint resolution:

WHEREAS, The citizens of the Dominion of Canada are with us in race, lineage, history and tradition; and, WHEREAS, The resources of the two countries supplement each other, and the arteries of commerce, both natural and artificial, are so interlocked and mutually dependent upon each other that they ought to constitute a single system, to be one and inseparable; and,

WHEREAS, The commercial relations between us and the Dominion of Canada are, and have been, strained and unnaturally cramped, and in a measure paralyzed, owing to the inability of the two Governments to establish such a system of international trade and commerce between them as is essential to meet the requirements of the situation; and,

WHEREAS, The conditions of the relations before referred to, as also the geography of the two countries, suggest the impossibility of a just and permanent settlement of the controversies pertaining to the fisheries, boundaries and transcontinental trade, except by blending the efforts and interests under one governmental system, and point logically to the necessity and probability of unity and assimilation between the two nations under one Government; and,

WHEREAS, The bonds of sympathy resulting from kinship, race, language, tradition and substantial identity of the governmental systems, together with a community of interests, based upon commerce and its aids and agencies, are of such a character, and that such union and assimilation is being discussed and favorably considered by the citizens of both nations, and inasmuch as it is believed its early consummation would be a great advantage to all the citizens and subjects of the two countries, provided the same can be attained in a manner consistent alike with the honor and dignity of the United States and Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada; therefore, with the view to aid in the consummation of what is hereinbefore suggested, be it

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled, that the President be and is hereby authorized and empowered to invite negotiations looking to the assimilation and unity of the people of the Dominion of Canada and the United States under one government, such unity and assimilation to be based upon the admission of the several provinces of the Dominion, or any one of them, into the union of States, upon the same terms and equality with the several States now composing the Union, and the assumption by the United States, of the indebtedness of the Dominion of Canada, or a just proportion thereof, and such other equitable terms and conditions as justice to the high contracting parties may demand; and

Resolved, That with a view to such negotiations, the President will invite the appointment of Commissioners by the Government of Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada to consider the wisdom and expediency of settling all controversies and differences which now exist between the two Governments, growing out of fisheries or otherwise, by such union and assimilation as hereinbefore suggested, either as to the whole, or any Province of the several Provinces of the Dominion, such negotiations to be conducted with a due regard to the amicable relations which exist between Great Britain and the United States and the obligations imposed thereby.

An Anarchist Suicide.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Henry Landseid, a steel worker of Allegheny City, committed suicide this morning, and made a futile attempt to kill his wife. He was prominently identified with the Anarchists. He has been married seven times, and all his wives are still alive. The present Mrs. Landseid is a niece of the late Arch-Abbott Wimmer of St. Vincent's Abbey. The woman's story is rather inconsistent, as there is no hole in her dress near the abrasion on her side, which she says was caused by a bullet fired by her husband.

A Cabinet Guess.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—A special from Indianapolis, containing a significant bit of gossip regarding the Cabinet, came from one of General Harrison's friends to-day, and relates to the recognition of the Pacific Coast. It is thought that one of the Administration advisers will represent that section, and according to the gentleman, whose view are followed, the honor will not, as everybody has supposed, fall on a California man, but Senator Mitchell of Oregon is likely to be the choice of the President-elect.

Legislating for De Lenses.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—It is stated that the Government will demand in the Chamber of Deputies to-day the passage of a measure allowing the Panama Canal Company to postpone the payment of interest on its bonds and capital until 1893.

Church Consecration.

NICE, Dec. 13.—The American Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Ghost in this city was consecrated to-day by Bishop Lyman. Two hundred and fifty Americans and Englishmen attended the service.

The Farrell Commission.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—At the meeting of the Farrell Commission to-day, Constable Feeley testified that he attended several League meetings, at one of which Parnell made a speech, and one of his remarks was: "These are days for action, not for words." A man named Buckley, who said he was a laborer, testified that he was sworn as a member of the Fenian Brotherhood, in November, 1880, at Tralee Causeway. That in 1882 a man named Roach had him expelled from the League for giving information to the police which led to the arrest of several members; that a meeting was held at which it was arranged that witness, with Fitzgerald and Phoenix, should shoot Roach. Revolvers were given them for that purpose, and they followed Roach but found no opportunity to shoot him. A meeting was held shortly afterwards at the house of a man named Casey. Witness was asked whether he would undertake to shoot Roach if the League provided him with funds to escape to America. Witness consented, and was given a revolver and twenty-four cartridges and was advised to practice and improve his aim. It was arranged after he had shot Roach that he should take shelter at the house of a man named Dean, and witness would be forthcoming to swear that he was not in the vicinity at the time of the murder. Witness afterwards met Roach driving cattle, and attempted to shoot him; he pulled the trigger of his revolver three times, but the weapon missed fire and Roach then bolted. Witness was arrested, charged with attempting a crime, but a witness swore he was at Dean's house when the attempt was made, and he was released. Witness, some time after, applied to the League for money to go to America, and obtained £2 10s. He expressed his dissatisfaction with the amount, but Phoenix told him he could not expect any more, in view of his failure to shoot Roach. On his cross-examination, the witness averred that his attempt on Roach's life was genuine, that before the occurrence he used to practice firing with his revolver at a stone of the size of a man's head. This statement caused a sensation.

Another Batch of Claimants.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A romantic story was recently sent from Edinburgh about the discovery of the heirs of Thomas H. Blythe, the California millionaire, and now comes another story which appears to as strongly establish the rights of another lot of claimants. According to this new story, the rich Californian originally came from London, where his nephews, Thomas and James Savage, and his cousin, Michael Savage, have been engaged as chimney sweeps for thirty years. The real name of Thomas H. Blythe is said to have been Thomas H. Savage. When a lad of 17 he was a chimney sweep in London, but was transported to Australia for stealing a silver watch stand. There he got a ticket-of-leave and assumed the name of Blythe, which belonged to an aunt. From Australia he went to California, and amassed the fortune now in litigation. Testimony to establish these facts has been sent to the Probate Court of San Francisco by the Savages in London, who are following the chimney sweeping business.

There is still another feature in the case, which brings in thirty claimants. It is said that Blythe went to London in 1873 and fell in with a woman named Julia Perry. This woman became the mother of a child named Flora, of which she told Blythe he was the father. When he went back to San Francisco he acknowledged Flora as his child. Even though she be illegitimate, under the laws of California Flora can inherit Blythe's millions if she can prove he is her father. Flora has taken steps to establish her claims.

A Terrible Storm.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A Sidney, Cape Breton, special says: A fearful storm, with a wind of seventy miles an hour, accompanied by snow and sleet, has been raging here since Tuesday night. Many houses were unroofed, and the people turned half-clad out in the tempest. The wires are down in every direction. From all points accessible come tales of fearful suffering and shipwrecks at sea. It is feared that when all points are heard from there will be much loss of life.

Army Promotions.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The death of Major Edward B. Spaulding of the Fourth Cavalry, will cause the following promotions: Captain Michael Conolly of the Ninth Cavalry to Major of the Fourth Cavalry, First Lieutenant Joseph Garrard of the Ninth Cavalry to be Captain and Second Lieutenant, Alfred B. Jackson of the Ninth Cavalry to be First Lieutenant.

A Summary Removal.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The Haytian Consul-General Bassett was formally removed this morning. The official papers were served by the Haytian Minister Preston. Vice-Consul Singleton was promoted to the vacancy. Preston said Bassett was not removed for any mistake, but simply because the new Administration wanted a man in that position thoroughly in sympathy with its purposes.

The Last Rights.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Impressive services over the remains of Rear Admiral Leroy were held in the Little Church Around the Corner, this morning. The remains will be buried in the Sleepy Hollow Cemetery at Tarrytown.

Bright Better—St. Metalism.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—John Bright is much improved. A conference of the Metallic League has resolved to endeavor to secure a return to the bi-metallic system, prevailing prior to 1873.

Defective Cannon.

PARIS, Dec. 13.—During a target practice on board a French ironclad a gun exploded, killing an officer and five men.

Objectional Walrus.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Persia has waived her objections to the appointment of a Russian Consul at Mesched.

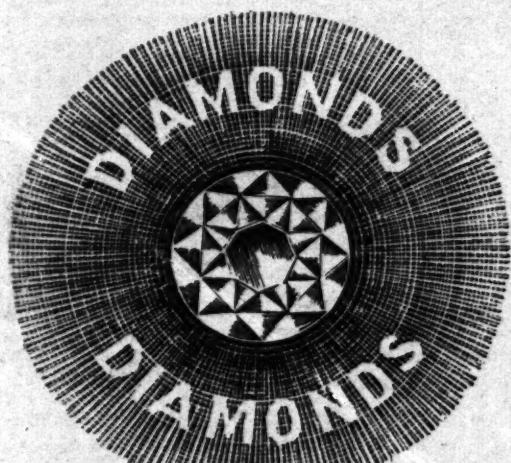

Black Bart's Wife Interviewed.

HANBIRAL, Mo., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Mary Bates, a respectable woman of this city, is the wife of the noted lone highwayman of California. A reporter called on Mrs. Bates and asked her if she knew of her husband's whereabouts. She said: The last letter I received from him was dated February 2d. He said if his life was spared he would be with us by Christmas at farthest. He knows the detectives are on his track, and you can easily see why he dare not write, as his letter, no matter where mailed, would be almost certain to fall into their hands. I believe he is engaged in mining in some secluded spot in the mountains, though of course I do not know if he is alive. If not perused by the detectives I believe he will come. I know that he still loves us; evidence in my possession shows beyond all doubt, that he is still as devoted to us as when we last saw him 20 years ago. It has been said that his depredations and robbing has been confined exclusively to Wells-Fargo Express Company. I do not say that to excuse him, for God knows he has enough to answer for, but, Oh! sir, he has some noble traits of character, and if they would only let him alone I know he would henceforth lead an honorable life.

Mrs. Bates has lived in this city twelve or thirteen years. She has three daughters, two of whom are married and living here, the third lives with her mother and is an estimable young lady.

Where She Hid Him.

The other day, says the Ogden Argus, a brakeman discovered a pug dog in care of a lady in the first-class coach, and told her that it would have to go into the baggage car. She objected, and he went for the conductor, but when they returned there was no dog in sight. They made a thorough search for the canine, and the lady politely stepped into the aisle to accommodate them, but they were unable to locate it and the search was abandoned. When all was quiet, the lady drew the dog from her "improver" where it had rested quietly in the shadow of her cloak, while the railway men were making their unavailing search.

THE DESTROYING ANGEL.

The Great Destroyer Abroad—Sheep Men Beware!

"Is this Mr. Dean, the cattle man?" inquired a seedy-looking individual of Louis Dean at the Depot Hotel last evening.

"Yes, sir, that is my name," answered Louis.

"Your range is up North, I believe?"

"Yes; at Granite Creek," answered Dean.

"Well, are you troubled with sheep in that country?" queried the seedy individual.

"Oh, yes, some; and can you tell me of a country where the damned, snotty-nosed things don't roam?" said Dean, warming a little at the thought of what feed they had destroyed for him.

"Well, now, I can run 'em out of that country for you if you want me. You see, I'm a prospector. I go around through the mountains prospecting, and I can just drop some stuff that will do the sheep business up for ever to your entire satisfaction. I come from Wyoming, where they eat me out of house and home—broke me up in business, in fact, and I have sworn vengeance. You see, my stuff is like Rough on Rats—they don't die in the hole, but they keep a dying as long as there is one left, and the stench is not all left in one place, but is scattered. Do you want to employ me?" he asked.

"What are your terms?" asked Dean.

"Well, as to that, partner, I can't say, but will try my exterminator on one flock; then you can give me what you think is right."

"Don't you sell range rights?" queried Dean.

"Not much—I work the thing myself. You see, I can take dinner with a herder to-day, and talk with him about the country and one thing and another; then move on, and by the time I'm fifty miles away his sheep begin to die. He moves, but they keep a dying, until the whole flock is gone. Better let me try you on one flock."

With a promise to see him later, Dean left the sheep exterminator to reflect on the feasibility of his plan.

THE PISTOL.

A Shooting Affray at Wadsworth in Which Frank McDonald is Shot in the Shoulder.

Frank McDonald, a brakeman on the Truckee division of the Central Pacific, was brought up from Wadsworth on a freight train last night suffering from a gun shot wound in the shoulder, inflicted by Tom Berry, another brakeman. It seems that the two men had had some trouble about the mysterious disappearance of a pistol at Truckee which led to McDonald's discharge from the company's employment yesterday. The quarrel was renewed at Wadsworth yesterday afternoon, when McDonald accused Berry of being the cause of his discharge, whereupon the men clinched when Berry drew his gun and commenced beating McDonald over the head and the pistol was discharged, thereupon Berry fired another shot which pierced McDonald's shoulder as above stated. The bullet was subsequently found in his clothes. Berry was placed under arrest and is now in jail. McDonald's wounds are not considered serious by his attending physician.

A PROFITABLE CROP.

Two Hundred and Ten Tons of Alfalfa Raised on Eighteen Acres of Land.

Louis Dean cut 210 tons of hay from 18 acres of land at his Granite Creek ranch this season. He seeded this season 30 acres more of the same kind of land and got a good crop, notwithstanding it was well into the month of May before the seed was sown, besides the pasture, which stands almost knee-high now. Mr. Dean has 100 acres more of the same kind of land to seed next season. If it all proves as prolific as that already seeded, he will have a fine ranch, to say nothing about his other holdings in the Granite Creek country.

Attempted Suicide.

W. H. Rexford, a man in the employ of W. J. Luke, the wagon-maker, attempted suicide this afternoon by cutting his throat and sticking a knife into his left side. The extent of his injuries could not be learned before the GAZETTE press hour. He was found wandering about in a field about one mile northeast of town and brought in about 4 o'clock. He has been on a protracted spree for several days, and imagines that parties here are working for him. He was taken to the County Hospital for treatment.

A Rich Gravel Mine.

The Plumas National of the 8th inst. says that Col. J. J. Smith has one of the best paying gravel claims in Plumas county, located on the east branch of Feather river, about two miles below Soda Bar. He made the discovery last Spring, and for the lack of water has been running the dirt to the river, quite a distance, and is at present making about an ounce per day to the man. There are plenty of good mines in that vicinity, and all it requires is a rustler like the Colonel to find them.

A Called Meeting.

A joint meeting of Engine Companies No. 1 and No. 2 is called for to-night, at the engine house, at 8:30 o'clock for the purpose of electing a Chief Engineer. A full attendance is desired.

Two or more surgeons representing this Institute will be at the Depot Hotel, Reno, December 14th; at the Ormsby House, Carson City, December 15th, and at the International Hotel, Virginia City, December 17th, 1888. They come fully prepared with all the apparatus necessary for the successful treatment of their specialties, curvature of the spine, diseases of the hip and knee joints, crooked limbs, club feet and all bodily deformities. Their success in treating these troubles as well as all chronic and sexual diseases has made for the Institute a national reputation. Upon application, references will be furnished from patients in all parts of the United States. All persons who are suffering from any of these complaints, should not fail to take advantage of this opportunity for relief.

A Heavy Saloon License.

The San Diego, Cal., Board of City Trustees has passed an ordinance raising the city liquor license from $10 a month to $50 a month, closing saloons at midnight, exacting heavy bonds from keepers of saloons, providing for the forfeiture of bonds and license if there is disorder on the premises, gambling or other violation of the ordinance. The total liquor license in the city now amounts to $900 a year.

The Use of Wine.

Kate Field, agent for the California State Viticultural Commission, writes that she will soon deliver her first lecture in New York. In her series of lectures she will advocate the use of wine at the table of California wines. Miss Field says she is meeting with some opposition from the temperance people, who are strongly prejudiced against any lecturer advocating the use of wine.

Convicted of Forgery.

J. M. Hall, formerly of Tulare, Cal., was convicted at Santa Cruz last Tuesday of forgery. Hall presented a clumsily forged note for $50 at the Bank of Watsonville some time ago. The trial only occupied the one day. His mother died a few days ago from grief, caused by her son's conduct.

Meeting Called.

A regular meeting of General Mitchell Post No. 19, G. A. R., will be held at their headquarters Monday evening, December 17, 1888, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Election of officers. All comrades and visiting comrades are requested to be present.

Entitled to a Monument.

A young lady in New York took off her high hat at the theater the other night, affording an unobstructed view of the stage right over her level head. In the ensuing enthusiasm the Herald calls for a monument for her.

Dr. Bo san-ko.

In his new discovery for consumption, succeeded in producing a medicine which is acknowledged by all to be simply marvelous. It is exceedingly pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and does not sicken. In all cases of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, and Pains in the Chest, it has given universal satisfaction. Dr. Bo san-ko's Cough and Lung Syrup is sold at 50 cents by S. J. Hodgkinson.

NORTHERN IMPROVEMENT.

A Reservoir That Contains 300 Acres and a Dam 50 Feet High.

Louis Dean is making extensive improvements at his Granite Creek ranch in the way of irrigation facilities. He is building a dam 50 feet high of cut stone that will overflow 300 acres and irrigate 1,000 acres of now arid lands, which he will put into alfalfa as soon as practicable. He has thirty-six men and six teams constantly at work on the structure. The 1,000-acre tract is covered with a low black brush that is easily cleared off. Two men and a team can clear from eight to ten acres a day, and when cleared it is the best kind of alfalfa ground.

EARLY REMINISCENCES.

What Was Being Done Twelve Years Ago.

Twelve years ago to-day Washoe Lake was frozen over. "Old Brodthorn" (Gov. Bradley) was in Reno inspecting the State Prison walls. Doc Woods, the aged veteran of the pre-revolution times, born in the pre-historic age, discover of Pyramid Lake and inventor of the patent chicken lifter, was in town.

The German Emperor Described.

At Leipzig during the German Emperor's recent visit, writes a lady correspondent: "I stood exactly opposite his Majesty for a whole hour, and had a capital view of him. He looked pale and haggard; has fair hair and mustache. The arm he carried as if it were quite stiff, for he never moves it; his legs are decidedly knock-kneed; he is not tall and not robust—on the contrary, he is slightly built. He seemed weak, on the whole. People told me that he did not sound enthusiastic to me; English throats give out cheerfully. The Kaiser did not appear to know what to do, and altogether it was a curious sort of affair. His Majesty only remained three hours in the city."

Reducing the Surplus.

The disposition of the surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the mortality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a cough, a cold, a sore throat, a chest or side pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Hodgkinson's drug store.

A Cowardly Organization.

The White Caps have broken out in New York State, and they threaten to give twenty-five lashes on the bare back of a young man if he stays out from home unaccompanied by his wife after 10:30 at night. The White Caps in Ohio and Indiana flag and kill who ever does not suit them. The organization is said to consist of pious people who want to regulate morals. They have established a private whipping post of their own, and they operate in the night, all wearing masks.

Our Candidate for President.

He will be nominated by the convention and will be elected by the people, because he will come the nearest to filling their ideal of a Chief Magistrate. Electric Bitters has been given the highest place, because no other medicine has so well filled the ideal of a perfect tonic and alterative. The people have endorsed Electric Bitters, and rely upon this great remedy in all troubles of the liver, stomach and kidneys. For all malarial fevers and fevers of all kinds, Electric Bitters is recommended. Also cures headache and constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50 cents and $1 at Hodgkinson's drug store.

Opposed to Cremation.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher says: "I have a great aversion to this strange idea of cremation, and trust no friend of mine will desire it. 'Dust thou art and to dust thou shalt return,' but I prefer to go by the natural way and not by fire. Yet I am not prepared to give any good reason for the aversion, save my own personal dislike of so disposing of the bodies of our friends."

Willie's Question.

Sunday School Teacher—Now children that lesson is ended, you may ask any questions you like and I will try to answer them. Is there anything you want to know Willie? Yes, ma'am.

If your back aches or if you are suffering from inflammation of the kidneys, seminal weakness, brick dust deposit in the urine, or in fact any kidney, urinary or liver complaint do not waste any money on worthless medicines or plasters, but strike the seat of the disease at once by using the greatest of all known remedies, Dr. King's Kidney Tea. The effect was an immediate improvement, and has never failed to give entire satisfaction. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

Henry Gratian's library has just been sold in Dublin. There were 5,000 volumes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 2.—For several weeks my wife suffered severely with kidney affection of a very aggravated character, which seemed to defy all the usual remedies. I finally tried the Oregon Kidney Tea. The effect was an immediate improvement, and she has now entirely recovered her health. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

The public houses in Liverpool have been reduced by fully 300 during the last eighteen years.

Ladies, do not ruin your complexion by the use of poisonous cosmetics and face powders. If your face is red or sunburned, if you have sores, pimples, or have pimples or blotches on the neck or face, Dutard's Specific will not cover them like a coat of paint, but will effectually remove them, cleanse the skin and restore it to its natural youthful bloom. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

If mothers studied their best interests they would find that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic was the best household remedy. Many of the ills peculiar to females could be avoided by its use. It is a pleasant to take as a glass of wine. Sold by Wm. Pinniger.

It is said that one person in seven in France follows art either as a professional or dilettante.

Murder of a Bank Cashier.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 13.—Soon after the National Bank opened this morning, two strangers from Arizona entered and one presented a check and asked if it could be cashed. E. C. Morse, cashier, told him he would have to be identified. Words followed, and the Arizona man drew a revolver and shot Morse through the body. Morse returned the fire, putting two bullets into his assailant. Six or seven shots were fired, when the strangers ran, but were arrested and lodged in jail. It is thought that both Morse and his assailant will die. One shot struck C. W. Filkins of Riverside, who was in the bank, but his watch saved his life. It is believed the men entered the bank with the design of robbery.

LATER.—Cashier Morse died half an hour after the shooting. The man who did the shooting gave the name of John Oakes, but refuses to talk. It is said that a third man, who has not yet been arrested, was seen trying the side door of the bank while the shooting was going on. Oakes was shot in the arm, ear and back, but it is believed that none of his wounds are serious.

A later investigation shows that Oakes has lived here a month, working for the railroad. Nine shots were exchanged before Morse fell. Oakes has letters showing that he has recently been in the insane asylum in Nevada. The man who went to the bank with him was a deputy Sheriff from Arizona. There is intense excitement here over the affair, as Morse was very popular. He leaves a wife, three children, a brother and an aged mother. There was some talk of lynching, but the law will probably take its course, as the doctors have pronounced him insane at the time of the shooting.

Tone up the system and improve the appetite by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will make you feel like a new person. Those who have found health, and relief from suffering, by the use of this great blood purifier, when all other means failed.

For forty years, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been demonstrated to be the most reliable remedy in use for colds, coughs and lung diseases. Slight colds should not be neglected. The Pectoral will prevent this becoming chronic.

"EXTRA STAR" KEROSENE!

Best and Safest Oil Manufactured.

Strictly Water White. Guaranteed 150° fire test.

TOO MUCH CARE CANNOT BE TAKEN when purchasing Coal Oil, to obtain an article that will be perfectly safe and of good burning quality. The fact is now generally recognized that our "STAR" and "EXTRA STAR" Oils are the safest and best illuminating oils ever offered, being superior in fire test and burning quality to all others. These oils are remarkably uniform, which is a decided advantage to the consumer. They will cost no more than inferior brands that are being put on the market branded "High Fire Test," but which are really only 105° to 115°, rendering them very unsafe oils for family use. We guarantee the "EXTRA STAR" better in every respect than the Elaine, Deveners, or any of the fancy brands sold at higher prices. We have had great difficulty in obtaining a sufficient supply to meet the large and increasing demand for our brand. A full supply, however, has just arrived, and we are now in condition to fill orders promptly. Give these oils a trial and you will use no others. We quote "Star" Oil at 22c per gal., 10c to suit; "Extra Star" at 27c per gal., 10c to suit.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the danger of pulmonary diseases, cannot be over-estimated. Mr. C. H. Phillips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely re- gained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

E. M. Sargent, Al Andover st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral about the year 1882, as a family medicine, for Coughs and Colds, and have always kept it in my house since that time. I consider it the best remedy that can be had for these complaints." Dr. J. B. Robertson, Clayton, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in my family and practice, for a number of years, and have no hesitation in recommending it. It is an admirable preparation, and well-qualified to do all that is claimed for it." E. J. Stiers, Germantown, N. C., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best Cough preparation I ever saw. It gives instant relief."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has cured a Cough in a few doses. It always relieves irritation of the lungs on throat, and arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. Garrett, Texarkana, Texas, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years. For throat and lung diseases, I consider it a wonderful remedy."

EAT, AND GIVE THANKS.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR THE THANKSGIVING TABLE.

How Mrs. Whitney Arranges Her Table.
—A Peculiar Custom in the Endicott Family—What The Wife of the Post-Master-General Will Have for Dinner.
(Copyright 1888.)

Mrs. Secretary Whitney is one of the most charming women in Washington. The interviewer has little trouble in approaching her, but he will find it hard to get away. I talked with her yesterday about her Thanksgiving arrangements. "Well," she said, "we generally keep the day with Mr. Whitney's sisters in New York, dividing the Christmas and Thanksgiving holidays between us. Sometimes we go to the home of the Secretary's mother at Brookline, near Boston. Our Thanksgiving dinner is always served at two o'clock, because on that day we have the children with us, and their unrestricted enjoyment requires more time for digestion than usual. We also try to have the old-fashioned edibles served very much in the usual way. Our Thanksgiving dinner will probably consist, first, of oyster soup, which will be followed by fish. Then the turkey with cranberry sauce and vegetables. We always bring the pies on at once. I think they make the table very attractive, with their crisp unbroken surfaces covered with white sugar. I should consider the dinner incomplete without cranberry tarts, with strips of dough delicately browned across the top. I have adopted the idea of my husband's mother on the pie question, and we have no end of pies; mince pie, pumpkin pie, apple pie and all the old-fashioned varieties. My mother-in-law makes a kind that I never see elsewhere. A Charlotte pudding affair, the name of which I do not remember, although it is a good one. It is made of grated apples and whigs, cranberries, my own home in Ohio. It was our custom to serve a small pig, roasted whole, which stood in the middle of the table, with a lemon in its mouth. Our boy is always happy when he is at Grandma Whitney's, because she lets him have unlimited mince pie. He has it for breakfast and dinner and a piece for lunch. He declares that his Grandma's pies never make him sick."

"My Thanksgiving dinner I like to be as much as possible the product of our own farm," said Mrs. Secretary Fairchild. "There is a sentiment connected with this particular festival that makes it seem more pleasant still to give thanks for the sheaves that have been ripening through the year, especially for us, and it is not all sentiment either, for after all there is no poultry like our own, no ham so sweet as that killed on our own farm, and nothing is in the world so delicious as the mushrooms gathered in our own pastures."

"I would serve my dinner just like any other," she continued, "but everything should be homelike."

Mrs. Endicott is a stately Massachusetts matron, and a real representative woman. "I believe in the old, New England Thanksgiving," said she, "and since it has become a national holiday, much of its show is lost, I think. I can remember the scene at my father's, in Salem, when his carriage house was packed with turkey's joints and other edibles for this purpose, and the yard would be filled with his poorer neighbors, who stood in front of the wide double door, across which a bar had been placed, and received the gifts as fast as two men could pass them out. There were turkeys enough only for his special proteges, but everybody could have a joint and the vegetables to go with it."

Our own dinner we have always taken at the old homestead; if we could not go ourselves we always sent the children, until this year.

Our family has always gathered there, from the oldest down to the wee babe in arms, and around the table, set in old-fashioned style and profusion, with roast turkey, chicken-pie, ham, and all kinds of fruit pies, mince pies and puddings, we have renewed the family ties on each Thanksgiving Day. After the table is cleared, there is one part of the ceremony we never omit. The youngest tottler in the company, the little child that has come into the family since the last Thanksgiving festival, is placed on his feet on the table, while his mother stands at the opposite end, and the rest of the family gather at the sides, to guard his safe journey from one end of the table to the other; every time he totters there are many ready hands extended to guard his uncertain steps till he arrives triumphantly at the other end.

"No, I do not know that there is any significance in this. I presume some of our proud mother of our family in primitive times may have done this, and the example has since been followed."

"The custom is pretty enough for a poem," said I, "and I have noticed one thing to-day that pleases me vastly. In every house almost, that I have called, there is a ladies' writing desk in the parlor; naturally to one of my guild this is very gratifying, and I see you have two."

"Yes," said she with a sigh, "one is mine, and this smaller one at my elbow is my daughter's. We have made good use of them, too, but she has gone and left hers—here the gentle eyes filled with tears. "Yes, it is hard to leave an ocean between us," she continued in a broken voice, in answer to a remark to that effect, "but one should never stand between one's child and happiness. That is his likeness on the mantle," indicating a handsome gentleman with frank looking eyes and a sensitive mouth. "I can bear it better because I know he is good. And as yet I presume I have not fully realized what it will be without her, for our house last fall filled with wedding guests, claiming my attention, and keeping away the loneliness that is sure to make itself felt by and by."

Mrs. Postmaster-General Dickinson is a comely lady, portly and dignified, but bright and rosy as a girl of sixteen.

"Yes," said she, "I have very decided views on Thanksgiving. I think the day should be set apart as one entirely devoid of fashion. No Thanksgiving seems appropriate to me but the good old New England variety described by Dr. Holland in his exquisite poem, 'Bible Story,' and Mrs. Stowe in the 'Minister's Wooing.' The dinner in the kitchen, with its brick floor and time-darkened rafters, the one newly swept and the other garnished with rows of drying pumpkin and squash, and long strings of apples and glowing red peppers, bunches of sage, with its pale, milky green seeming more delicate than ever, beside the dark bunch of thyme and the rusty hued penny royal."

"I would have the dinner composed of all the homely viands of country life, and placed on the groaning table all at once; no waiters but the sweet service of love, as those surrounding it helped each other, fashionable courses abolished, with the side dishes and ceremony, no fashionable acquaintances invited that day, only the home folks, and if this was made impossible, as it generally is now, in this progressive age, when families are often divided by many leagues, so that we could not have the good, old grand parents, the children and grand children, the wee ones playing blind man a buff, and puss in the corner, after the dinner is cleared away, by the bright light of the wood fire in the wide fire place, then I would have invited those to whom the day would bring an unaccustomed joy, the humbler acquaintances, which every true woman has on her list, and not listed as the least honored, either, though their circumstances preclude them at the more fashionable parties."

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will spend the day quietly at Oak View. The lady of the White House keeps her own counsels, and her Thanksgiving arrangements are past finding out. BETSY O'DOWD.

ABOUT PROMINENT PEOPLE.

How a Duke Proposed to Mrs. Mackay's Sister—How Roswell P. Smith Bought the Lincoln History and the Amount Paid For It.

Mrs. Mackay, of California, Paris and London, is said to be very intimate of late with Isabella, ex Queen of Spain. A good story of the Mackay family has not until now been told in print. Mrs. Mackay's mother and sister lived with her some thirty years ago in Paris, and from the immense wealth of the head of the family it was supposed that the sister would come in for a very considerable dot; and it was true that Mackay had either inherited from her or presented her with a few hundred thousand dollars, more or less, a mere bagatelle in the eyes of the eye of the millions, but very appetizing to a hungry Frenchman of the old regime. One day at the Legation of the United States a Dowager Duchess of the oldest French stock asked to see the American Minister, and was ushered into His Excellency's private office. Her Grace then explained that she had come in behalf of her son, the young duke, to propose for the hand of Mrs. Mackay's sister. She had not the honor to know Mrs. Mackay nor her mother, and of course not the young lady, so she thought the proper way was to come direct to the minister. His Excellency promised to submit her proposal, which he did the same day to Mackay's mother-in-law. But the old Californian was not so much elated at the prospect of the alliance as doubtless the Duchess had anticipated, she asked the Minister to explain to the noble party that her daughter was very poor, having no share of the Mackay fortune and that in Europe she was expected to earn her own living. The Minister communicated his message to the Duchess, who was disappointed but in no way embarrassed. She said she had been misinformed, and that of course under the circumstances her offer would not stand. It was a purely business arrangement in her eyes.

The young lady afterwards married an Italian prince, but the preliminaries were not settled by any envoy or dual or princely mother-in-law. The American girl acted in her own behalf.

The Lincoln History now appearing in the Century Magazine costs Mr. Roswell Smith, the proprietor of that periodical, $20,000. The way in which he came to pay this extraordinary price is thus described. Mr. Smith found the "War Series" approaching an end, and naturally wanted something to take its place. In his anxiety he declared that he would give $20,000 for a substitute or successor to the articles which had been so prominent. At this juncture Col. John Hay chanced to present himself at the Century office with his MS. Mr. Gilder, the principal editor, read a few chapters and was convinced they would take. A council of war was held, of editors and publisher, and on the strength of Mr. Gilder's judgment, it was decided to accept the history. Mr. Smith thought he had secured the prize of which he was in search—the material that was to take the place of the great War Series. Hay meanwhile had gone back to Washington, and Gilder now wrote for Nicolay and him to return. They came, and to their amazement and delight were offered $20,000 for the manuscript, for which they would doubtless have been glad to receive a much smaller sum. But it requires critical acumen and business faculty to conduct a great magazine, and this is the way in which the success of the Century has been built up.

A NOVEL OCCUPATION.

Detectives Who Guard the Graves of Millionaires by Day and Night.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," said a well-dressed active looking young business man the other day. "now it may sound strange to you, but the robbery of Stewart's body has been of great benefit to me and a great many other people whom I could name."

"In what way?" inquired the friend to whom the remark was addressed.

"Well, it opened up an entirely new line of business and created a demand for my goods in a quarter that I had never thought of before. You know I manufacture electrical watch clocks, designed for use in factories and other large buildings where watchmen are employed. Well, ever since the Stewart grave robbery there has been a demand for those watch clocks in every part of the country for use in cemeteries. The grave of nearly every rich or public man is protected in some such way, and I could tell you of graves that are watched night and day by private watchmen."

"There's Vanderbilts' grave, for instance, down in the big mausoleum on Staten Island. I said them that I had several clocks, one of which is placed inside the tomb and the other outside of it. Every fifteen minutes each clock is visited by a Pinkerton detective, two of whom are constantly on guard. One of these detectives patrols outside the tomb while the other is locked in and sits behind the iron bars with a loaded repeating rifle on his knees ready for instant use. It would be next to impossible for any robber to get away with the remains of William H. Vanderbilt so long as it is protected as it is now. The Pinkerton men are hired by the rock and there is quite a little colony of them established down there on Staten Island, very near the mausoleum. I think they keep eight or ten there all the time. It costs more to look after the old man's grave than it does the little grave are relieved at frequent intervals and are therefore not liable to fall asleep at their posts. It costs more to look after the old man's grave than it does the little grave are relieved at frequent intervals and are therefore not liable to fall asleep at their posts.
